

Death in Thailand : Repatriation

Contributed by Administrator
Wednesday, 27 August 2008
Last Updated Monday, 01 September 2008

Repatriation in Thailand!

Should a relative of yours die while in Thailand, Immigration has provided the following procedures for foreigners to follow in order to repatriate the mortal remains of the relative. The procedures are as follows:

The following documents are required:

Death Certificate
Letter from the Police
Passport of the deceased

It is much easier to hand the documents to your embassy if they have not collected it themselves already. Let the embassy handle the reporting to immigration and obtain all the needed certificates as required.